

Solidarity with the working class in France

SEKO Tunnelbanan, Klubb 111, the union which organizes the employees who work in the Stockholm metro in Sweden, expresses its solidarity with the working class in France. We support your struggle against the so called "travail-law". Which means that it will be easier for employers to fire workers and restrict collective bargaining. We also support your struggle against the other proposals that attack the working class in France while the French state providing more financial support for capitalists.

In particular, we support the workers in the energy industry (FNIC-GGT) and railway workers who are in the front line of the fight.

This bill shows that the working class should not have the illusions that it matters what kind of government there is, social democratic or conservative, Sarkozy and Hollande before and now, support the capitalists and not the workers.

The working class must stand united together against all attacks from the capitalists and its allies.

SEKO Tunnelbanan is on your side.

One for all and all for one!
